DISMISSED WITHOUT HONOR.

Hagerstown National Guard Company Refuses to Obey Orders.
Hagerstown, Md., February 15.—Thirty-one members of Company B, First Maryland Regiment, Maryland National Guard, at Hagerstown, have been dismissed without honor. Letters of dismissal have been received from the adjutant-general's headquarters. The members were discharged for insubordination and refusal to obey the orders of their superior officers. The members who were discharged have employed a lawyer and will make a legal defense. The adjutant-general has taken the matter to Governor Goldsborough, and, if necessary, they say, it will be taken to the Secretary of War. The discharged privates some time ago asked for the resignation of Captain Little, alleging conduct unbecoming an officer. Captain Little's resignation not being forthcoming, the privates refused to attend the meeting and asked for a court-martial. Instead of a court-martial they were discharged.

and other animals in proportion to the supply, zoo keepers are facing a condition that makes the high cost of living "bugaboos" appear insignificant in comparison.
Thus spoke "Cy" de Vry, keeper of the Lincoln Park Zoo, as he stood before the cage of Guinevere, a huge python.
"And just as I was getting ready to put in a reptile house, too," he added.

"It has got to a point now where you can't get a twenty-six-foot python for less than $1,000. They're advanced $5 and more a foot. But the price of reptiles is not as bad as lions. I paid $1,200 for Roger, our prize lion, a few months ago; got a bargain; he's worth $5,000 now.
"Elephants have gone up, too. A first-class one costing about $5,000. And a rhinoceros—well, if you get a fair one, not too old, he'll cost you $7,000. Not a bad price to add to a giraffe and a grizzly to my collection, but I can't have both. Why, a giraffe is as good an investment as rhinoceros, and he'll cost you $4,000, nearly twice as much as a year ago."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Amherst, Va., February 15.—Late yesterday afternoon Troy Hopkins, seven-year-old grandson of Captain T. O. Troy, of this place, had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury. The little fellow was riding down a steep hill on his bicycle when he met a loaded wagon. The horse became frightened, plunged and knocked the child down and the rear wheel of the wagon passed entirely over his body. The little boy was taken to his home and a physician was summoned. It is not thought that any bones are broken.

Hon. Walter P. Massie has announced his candidacy for re-election to the House of Delegates from this county in the primary to be held during the coming summer.

The proposed new school building for Amherst is still being discussed. There are differences of opinion as to the advisability of erecting a building. Some are in favor of the project, while others are not inclined to give it much support. An architect from Lynchburg has been to Amherst to look the situation over. Another meeting of the citizens of the town will be held in the courthouse next Tuesday night, at which time the committee appointed to solicit subscriptions will make its report.

G. R. Griggs, of North Carolina has taken charge of the Amherst Progress, J. K. Knykendall, of Gainesville, Fla., who had contracted to take the paper, did not come as was expected.

According to reports from various schools in the county it appears that teachers, pupils and patrons are interested in improving school buildings and grounds, and thus promoting the health and happiness of the children.
